

Message from the Vice Chancellor

Professor Dr. Allan Fisher

I'm writing to you from the Laureate Leadership Summit in Orlando, Florida.

This is an annual meeting in which several hundred Laureate leaders from around the world gather to share latest developments.

The other INTI attendees and I will share some of our learnings in meetings throughout July; look in particular for some new insights and planning around student career development and the INTI Individualization pillar.

The other big event coming up in two weeks is our July graduation and the investiture of our new chancellor.

Look for details elsewhere in this issue, and please join the whole IU community in this special event.*

A comparative guide to doing business in Malaysia and Greater China, to be distributed in over 100 countries, is the latest project for INTI students made possible through the strong partnership between their institution and HLB Ler Lum - member of HLB International, a worldwide network of independent professional accounting firms and business advisors.

The guidebook project, the latest in a series to enhance students' innovative learning experience, will involve them in research to provide up-to-date information, statistics and other relevant data on business structures for foreign investors in Malaysia and Greater China (comprising Hong Kong, China and Taiwan). These include taxation, financial and monetary systems, securities markets, foreign business incentives, employment, social security payment, infrastructure and trading across borders.

The "Malaysia-Greater China

Investment Guidebook" will be structured from the perspective of entrepreneurs that will allow them to compare the business and regulatory requirements from four jurisdictions. The Guidebook, after having been reviewed by HLB International and published will be made available to all its member firms in over 100 countries.

Mr. Robert G. Tautges, Chief Executive Officer of HLB International, and Dr Ler Cheng Chye, Senior Partner of HLB Ler Lum officiated at the project launch with Professor Dato' Dr. Ibrahim Ahmad Bajunid, Deputy Vice-Chancellor of INTI International University.

The book project is the latest in a series which also includes students' review of the recruitment and selection policies, processes and procedures of HLB Ler Lum for the purposes of professional and academic development in the industry's human resources best practices.
