

30 Byron Trott (far right), founder of BDT & Co., which services "billionaires with businesses," with senior advisers in Chicago.

3 MACRO
Closer Look
 Our business guide to Washington: What you need to know to win in the new political powerscape.
By Tory Newmyer

6 MACRO
Irrational Exuberance
 Has the hipster movement finally peaked? Here's the tale in numbers.
By Lauren Silva Laughlin

7 MACRO
Most Powerful Women
 Highlights from Fortune's Most Powerful Women Next Gen Summit.
By Shalene Gupta

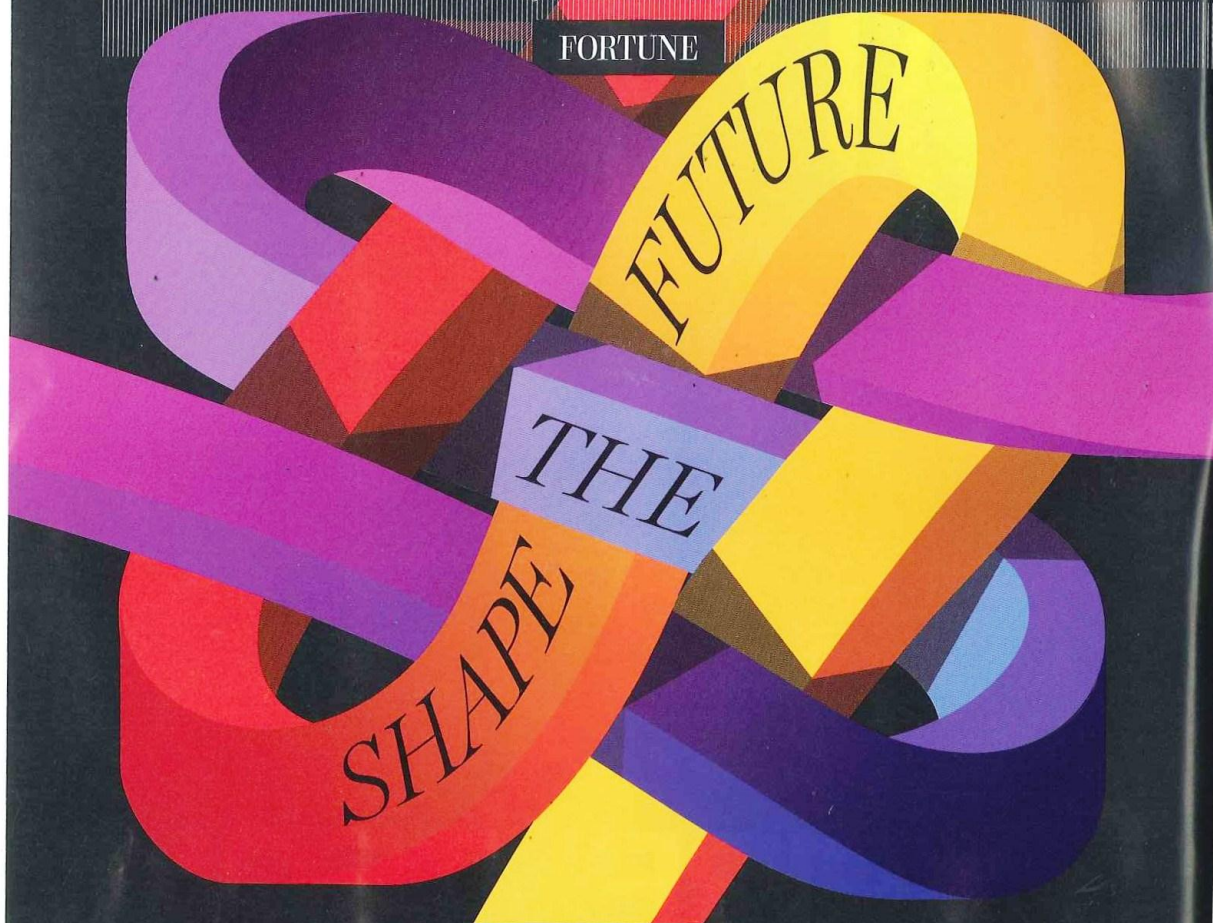

8 INVEST
Wall Street Mischief
 Money manager F-Squared used a hot ETF strategy to collect billions. But the numbers didn't add up.
By Stephen Gandel

12 INVEST
Road to Wealth
 How to bet on an oil rally.
By Janice Revell

2 EDITOR'S DESK
60 BING!

CORRECTIONS
 "Where Is Opportunity Lurking?" (Dec. 22, 2014) stated incorrectly that Vontobel Asset Management oversees $19 billion in assets. The correct figure is $49 billion. In the same issue, "The Investor CEOs Fear Most" misspelled the name of Barington Capital Group. Fortune regrets the errors.

INTI INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY
TSAM LIBRARY - SERVIS UNIT
Supplier / Publisher :	Transform
Date Receive :	09/01/15

13
Shape the Future

Why forecast tomorrow when it's already underway today? Our look at how the future really arrives: with failure, hard work, and a little luck.

20
Empire of Tech

CEO Bob Iger has spent much of his near decade at Disney wearing an additional corporate hat: CTO. The result? He has brought the coolest innovations from Lucasfilm, Pixar, Marvel, and ESPN into a single galaxy.
By Michal Lev-Ram

30
The Billionaires' Banker

Byron Trott has long been a trusted adviser to clients with names like Buffett, Walton, and Pritzker. Now the ultra-discreet financier is raising his profile by investing alongside them.
By Adam Lashinsky

38
Is Jonathan Bush in a Bubble?

The Athenahealth CEO believes his company can become the Amazon of health care. But hedge fund manager David Einhorn and others are betting that his soaring stock is ready to burst.
By Jen Wiczner

46
Renault-Nissan: Can Anyone
Succeed
Carlos Ghosn?

He's the only person ever to head two Fortune Global 500 companies at once. His duties have become so complex that nobody else may be able to assume them.
By Brian Dumaine

54
Startup: You

How to approach your own career like an entrepreneur.
By Erika Fry

ON THE COVER: PHOTOGRAPH OF BOB IGER BY WESLEY MANN
CONCEPTUAL TECHNICAL DRAWING OF MILLENNIUM FALCON BY INDUSTRIAL LIGHT & MAGIC