

INTL INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY
TSAM LIBRARY

SEPTEMBER • 2016

- 4 The Reader Page
6 Calendar
10 PM Everywhere

Date received : 8/9/2016

HOW YOUR WORLD
WORKS

- 13 VR at the U.N.
14 The other state making great bourbon
18 Can a hair dryer be worth $400?
20 The new football stadium that can withstand Minnesota winters
22 A maker's guide to Louisville, Kentucky
24 Things Come Apart: Microwave
26 Great Unknowns

KNOW-HOW

- 29 The noncriminal's guide to lock picking
32 Tool Test: Generators, ladders, and earplugs
36 Shop Notes
37 Entrepreneurs: How to scale up
41 Getting Started in: Trail running
44 Ask Roy

DRIVING

- 47 One truck to rule them all
50 Bentley's first SUV
52 The easiest way to touch up scratched paint
54 Reviews: The latest from Chevrolet, Mercedes, and Ford
56 My Ride: The '76 Ferrari of one man's dreams

THE LIFE

- 57 In the Shop, On the Water Beautiful stand-up paddleboards and the guys who build them

PROJECT

- 97 Army Trunk
Bringing a forgotten Korean War trunk back to life
By Jacqueline Detwiler

POPULAR MECHANICS
FOR KIDS

- 102 A doorbell for your bedroom!

STUPID OR AMAZING?

- 108 GMOs
By Jesse Hirsch

Publisher

: IBS

HOW TO

MAKE ANYTHING

Actor, woodworker, Scotch enthusiast

64

THE WORLD'S FUNNIEST WOODWORKER

You may know him as the whiskey-and-steak-adoring outdoorsman from Parks and Recreation, but Nick Offerman makes more than jokes. From his decked-out woodshop in L.A., the actor also makes birdhouses and strip-panel canoes. And more jokes.

BY MATTHEW B. CRAWFORD

70

HOW TO MAKE ANYTHING

Our third-annual celebration of the great American practice of making stuff. Including: a NASA-grade telescope, a spindle sander made out of a blender, a book safe, and root beer from real roots.

PLUS

HOW TO DESTROY ANYTHING

A guide to shredding, incinerating, and scrubbing away the things that are toughest to get rid of, like diamonds and your browsing history.

84

CLIMB ABOARD, YE WHO SEEK THE TRUTH

More than half of all Americans believe in some kind of conspiracy theory—be it faked moon landings, crop circles, UFOs, or nefarious vaccines. Where can they all gather together with the movement's biggest celebrities to swap stories and suspicions? On a weeklong Mexican cruise!

BY BRONWEN DICKEY