

CONTENTS

JUNE 15, 2017

FEATURES

The Annual Fortune 500

By THE FORTUNE EDIT TEAM

America's biggest companies: the definitive list.

PAGE NO.

29

Starbucks' Ex-CEO Has Something Left to Prove

By BETH KOWITT

Longtime chief Howard Schultz has "stepped down" to become chairman. Now he's leading the effort to launch a higher-end coffee business. It may mean even more to him than it does to the company.

30

America: a Growth Industry

By LAURA ENTIS
With graphics by NICOLAS RAPP

For more than six decades, the Fortune 500 has tracked the trends driving and reshaping the U.S. economy. Here, a graphic examination of how it has changed.

39

▲ COVER ILLUSTRATION
BY FORGE & MORROW

Tesla Makes a U-Turn in China

By SCOTT CENDROWSKI

Two years ago, Tesla was stumbling in China. Today, its cars are everywhere—a sales phenomenon that has helped lift the company to its Fortune 500 debut. Here's how Tesla turned the corner.

48

500

VOLUME 375 // NUMBER 6

45

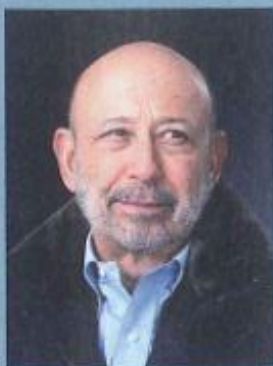

CONTENTS

FEATURES

A Bolt of Energy

By VALENTINA ZARYA

PG&E CEO Geisha Williams is a classic immigrant success story. Now, as head of California's largest utility, she's embracing a business rocked by powerful change.

62

Goldman Sachs Wants Its Mojo Back

By WILLIAM O. CONAN

The finance world's most ruthlessly efficient profit-maker has struggled in an era of tighter regulation. An inside look at how CEO Lloyd Blankfein plans to take Goldman to the top once more.

A Giant Enters a New Arena

By MICHAL LEV-REH

Activision Blizzard built a videogame empire around best-selling titles like Call of Duty and Warcraft. Now it wants to become the Disney of competitive gaming. Will audiences play along?

72

PAGE NO.

56

56

62

72

Marriott Goes All In

By BRAWN TOLLY

With last year's $13.6-billion purchase of Starwood, CEO Arne Sorenson has already built a hotel industry Goliath. Now he's embarking on a historic expansion and betting he can fend off a pesky upstart: Airbnb.

80

THE LISTS

- F-1 The 500 Largest U.S. Corporations
- F-23 The 500 Ranked Within Industries
- F-31 Arrivals and Departures
- F-32 Explanations and Notes
- F-33 Company Performance
- F-37 Index

89

91