

A Real-Time Communication and Collaborating Networking Tools for Class Management

Prepared by: Ojikutu Gbadebo Akeem

ABSTRACT

This project studies the technical and operational process of effective class management and communication and collaboration with the staff and students of faculty of Computing and Information Technology (FOCIT) of INTI International University (formerly INTI University College). The project further develops and a communication and collaboration tools implementing Cloud Computing and SharePoint to handle the academics and learning needs of the users (Lectures and Students).

The system design is an exploration of different computing areas such as, Web, Client-server, Intelligent Agent, Centralised system, Cloud computing, Scheduling management and SMS etc to aids the realization of the project objectives.