ABSTRACT

Insects are nuisance at night. The smart window net is to ward off the insects from outside. This metallic net can roll up or down automatically. There are two settings the user can select via a switch: manual or automatic. When the switch is set to manual, this will activate two push-buttons. Each push button controls rolling up or down the net. When the switch is set to automatic, the net will roll down or up, when the night falls. The rolling up or down will be actuated when light is detected with a photo resistor placed outside the window.
