

Design of Multi-Purpose Hall

Prepared by: Dennis Tan Cheong Yin

ABSTRACT

This project report consist the following sections:

1. Acknowledgement

This section allows me to express my gratitude and acknowledge the help given by the many parties until the completion of my project.

2. Content page

This page will provide information about the topics available in the project. It will ease their search on the relevant information needed.

3. Body

Meanwhile, this section shows or describes the member of the structural that was designed and all the limitations of using the particular methods.

4. Conclusion

This is the summary of the whole project. Besides that, the recommended usage of this project is also given.

5. Reference

I have used BS codes and also several books when I was completing this project. Therefore I acknowledge them in this section.

6. Appendix

This part includes the calculations, data and diagrams that were applicable in this project. The availability of appendix will let the readers understand more on how the multi-purpose hall was designed.