

SOIL TREATMENT

Prepared by: Vincent Liew Yun Khan

ABSTRACT

The main objective of this project is to understand the typical methods of soil treatment and discuss on the effects of each of the soil treatment method.

In my project report, I have discussed on the more conventional types of soil treatment as well as its effects. The different types of soil treatment have been classified under four categories according to their nature of application. Each of these methods has their own significant effectiveness as well as its benefits and disadvantages.