ABSTRACT

Just imagine what your first reaction is when you discover that an illegal person started your computer or car. You will regret that why you haven't installed an additional security lock on it. Many common additional security locks such as steering lock and handbrake lock, which is available in market, was already an old skill of locking. Car theft may also drive away your car by breaking the metal by using great performance saw or high temperature flame. Therefore, how about if the additional lock is replaced by a piece of board with a group of LED? The theft will abandon from driving out your car since this is a big problem for them to break the password without using violence attack.
