

PERFORMANCE EVALUATION OF EXISTING MATERIAL HANDLING SYSTEM IN ICI PAINTS (M) SDN. BHD.

Prepared by: Tey Mei Lin

ABSTRACT

This report is basically the research and performance evaluation of the material handling system in ICI Paints (M) Sdn. Bhd. the evaluation is focused on the material handling system in raw material store. Several recommendations have been suggested as the result of this project.

Material handling is the art and science involved in the moving, packaging and storage of the substance in any form. Through the techniques and principle learned in this particular field, material handling system can be designed to be suit into various working environment to produce best handling of the products or material. It is essential also for improving, upgrading and modifying of an existing material handling system into satisfying stage with the newest technologies and techniques in the art of handling. Practical research and study is thereby playing an important role to help an individual familiarize with the world of handling.