

PUMP AND PIPING SYSTEM

Prepared by: Chai Soong Yew

ABSTRACT

The function of pump is to transmit a fluid, (water, oil, petroleum, and gases) from one position to another position or a level to another level. The transmission of petroleum from Alaska to State of Washington, US is through thousands km distance, and the refrigerant cycle in refrigerator are use pump to accomplish their purposes. The size of pump can be small as a tiny box and also can large as a building, depend on this purposes.