ABSTRACT

In this project report, it had divided into 6 parts. There are list of illustration and photographic, body, conclusion, references and finally is appendix. In my list of illustration I will be showing you the process that I have made from time to time. For example the beginning of the month, what progress I had made or I had completed. This list also when is the suppose time I will finish my project. The next page is the list of photographic. I will be showing a quite interesting picture of my prototype. For this picture you have a clearer view of my prototype.

The next page will be the body, in the body it contain introduction that introduce my project and how it works, construction; to know how I will construct my prototype, results that I have made some experiment on it and analysis where I will make some improvement to make it more efficient. After all this pages, will also include my conclusion to conclude all this pages. In these last 2 pages I will make some references pages and appendix. These pages will show how and where I get all these idea and materials.
