ABSTRACT

The history of science started when the humans try to use instrument to work easily. By observe, thinking and application, we improve our knowledge, technique and by the application of them, we improve our life, we done the work easier than before and we done the work that is impossible before.

Because of this reason, I propose to redesign an automatic flag raiser that can done the work easier than before and abler than before by the application of techniques we have used now.
