

SMART TOILET

Prepared by: Chan Lai Wah, Chia Yu Xun, Kok Chee Hiam, Teh Calvin Heng Hong

ABSTRACT

This report contains details of the theoretical, constructional, cost and time management aspect of the project.

Construction section would provide information on the construction of the project, from planning, calculation to actual construction of the project models and Printed Circuit Boards.

The results and analysis section contains results of initial plans of the project and their testing results, followed by its new and improved design and their respective testing results.

At the appendix however, contains photographs of the completed project model, and electronic component datasheets.