

SIMPLY A BREEZE...deejays Kee and Lee gave the students some pointers on conducting interviews and entertaining crowds.

Schoolkids get to be deejays for a day

THE lecture theatre at Inti College Malaysia was transformed into a radio broadcasting station as 74 students from 19 schools in Pahang, Selangor and Negri Sembilan attended a camp.

The two-day-one-night camp was organised by the college's Chinese Cultural Society and 37.2 shop, a creative art shop.

Two deejays, Andrew Kee and Lee Koon Fat, entertained the audience and shared their experiences as deejays.

They taught students how to greet listeners and read the news and advertisements. Students were also given the opportunity to practise interviewing a celebrity.

During the camp, several students were also asked to be deejays. Some surprised the audience when they performed like seasoned professionals.

Students also sang along to songs by musicians Wong Jyh Juan and Law Yuen Hong. Tips on choosing songs to encourage and motivate listeners were also given.

At the end of the camp, students were asked to give a group presentation using all the skills they had learnt.
