

Bringing people together through music

MUSIC brings people together and these days with all the talk about globalisation, it's only right that people learn to appreciate each other's brand of music.

The Music Club of Inti College Subang did its part towards this end, holding a musical event called Music of the World at the college recently.

The event saw a good turnout of students. College band, The Sin started the ball rolling playing its version of Metallica's For Whom The Bell Tolls, followed by Chinese and Malay numbers by other students.

The highlight of the evening was a performance

entitled Zoblazo by Ghanaian students.

Contests and a lucky draw added to the evening's excitement and when the evening came to an end, the Music Club's vice-president Janet Chai said: "The objectives of the event, which were to attract members by demonstrating the various opportunities that the Music Club offers and showcasing the musical talent of Inti students, have been achieved."
