

Coaching clinic for students

TWENTY-FIVE students from Inti College in Nilai attended a three-hour coaching clinic at the college recently.

Inti College sports officer Lim Boon Hooi said the students also had the opportunity to play against juniors from the Petaling Jaya Municipal Council (MPPJ) squash programme.

The clinic was conducted by MPPJ squash coaches Henry Tan and David Su.

"Looking at the response from the students, we plan to organise the clinics on a semester basis," said Boon Hooi.

Incidentally, squash player Wee Gim Seng is also a student of Inti College. He is enrolled in the American University Programme (AUP) and is also a recipient of the Sports Scholarship from Inti College.

Besides Gim Seng, about 20 talented sportsmen and sportswomen in basketball, football, swimming, hockey, table-tennis, bowling, cricket, volleyball and gymnastics had received scholarships from Inti College.

Inti College senior vice-president Dr Lee Fah Onn said: "The coaching clinic is part of our efforts to encourage our students to take a keener interest in sports.

"Inti College is offering either a full or partial tuition fee waiver to national and state sportsmen and sportswomen."

MPPJ juniors and Inti College students who attended the squash coaching clinic.