

MoU on wireless communications courses

NILAI, Fri. — Inti College and Ericsson Academy will jointly develop and offer wireless communications courses following a Memorandum of Understanding signed today.

The MoU was to provide Malaysians with a truly a global set of knowledge and practical skills.

Under this agreement, Inti College and Ericsson Academy will offer wireless communications courses through an e-education mode to Inti students and the public.

Upon completion of the short-term courses, graduates will be awarded the Inti- Ericsson Certificate in Wireless Communications in which students will be equipped with knowledge and practical skills which will put them at the forefront of the technology spectrum.

Inti College president, Tan Yew Sing said Inti's decision to collaborate with an industry leader is not coincidental.

"Inti College has always ensured that we offer an education that is world class.

"By Inti standards, world class will mean, among other things, that our programmes are technology driven as well industry-relevant," he added.

The technical courses that are to be generated through the Inti-

Ericsson partnership will allow students to gain skills.

Director of Ericsson Academy Malaysia, Fahmi Hamzah said that this collaboration is in line with Ericsson's recently launched University Partnership Programme.
