Campus Campus

Inti hold its campus day

INTI College Subang Jaya (ICSJ) held its campus day in conjunction with Inti College's 15th anniversary celebrations recently. The college's routine of lectures and exams were momentarily halted as staff and students got together to participate in a host of events including the Nescafe tarik and vegetable carving contests, cooking demonstrations, a food fair and flower sale.

ICSJ principal Dr Saw Sor Heoh, who launched the celebration, thanked long-serving staff for their loyalty and dedication and urged all college members to continue working together.

After the opening, there was a "food presentation" where students walked on stage to present the food sold at their stalls. The buffet corner was especially popular with both staff and students. There was also an exhibition of photographs entitled "A walk down memory lane", which showcased Inti's 15-year history.

News Poll

Should teachers plan their pregnancies so as not to interrupt the teaching and learning process?

- Yes, pupils need teachers to be present all the time.
- No, this is something that cannot be planned.
- Why only the teachers?
