

New addition gives Inti an edge in IT

INTI College Malaysia recently announced the appointment of Dr Gan Siowck Lee as its new Associate Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

Holding a doctoral degree in curriculum and instruction from the University of Hawaii, Dr Gan was formerly an associate professor at University Putra Malaysia and the Director of Studies at Kolej Damansara Utama.

For the past 13 years, Dr Gan's teaching and research has focussed on Information Technology applications in education and distance learning.

She has published widely, both locally and internationally — her latest book being IT and Education in Malaysia: Problems, Issues and Challenges.

At Inti, Dr Gan will consolidate the college's efforts in moving towards the creation of an e-campus — to use e-learning to enhance and supplement learning on campus as well as for distributed and distance learning at the college's branch campuses in the country and abroad.

NEW FACE AT INTI ...

However, she will also contribute to research and development in her role as external supervisor and examiner for graduate students working on IT and education projects in public and private universities.
