INTI College Subang Jaya welcomed the Year of the Goat by sharing the joy with residents of the Ci-Hang Chempaka Welfare Association of Selangor.

College principal Dr Saw Sor Heoh reminded the students of the contributions made by the country's senior citizens and the respect and dignity that should be accorded them in return.

"Their hard work and loyalty over the years should never be forgotten, for these have helped in the success of our nation."

Saw later joined the residents to toss the yee sang, which everyone enjoyed tremendously.

The home located at Kampung Subang, was set up 14 years ago and has 28 residents at present, with the oldest being 102 years old.

The management has plans to expand the services by building a rehabilitation
