

1250 Best Friends. And Counting.

I love dogs. When I was 8, it broke my heart to see some boys torturing a stray puppy. I brought him home to nurse him. And that was my first foray as an independent dog rescuer.

My passion for dogs has led me to start A Dog's Life – a social community dedicated to the rescue, care and neutering of stray dogs. I realise that I can do so much more when I bring different people together towards a common goal.

That's why I'm glad I've learned about leadership, collaboration and teamwork through my degree. I've learned how to do the things I want to do, and do them well. I've gained the global exposure and industry experience that I need to go far in life.

Along the way, I've become more inventive and enterprising. I've since started my own online business, which helps fund my cause.

Education is about becoming the person I want to be.
